

CHOITHRAM COLLEGE OF NURSING MECHANISM OF EXAM GRIEVANCE

An exam-related grievance mechanism is a structured process through which students can formally raise concerns or complaints about issues related to their exams. These grievances could be about exam content, scoring, procedural errors, or other related matters. This process applies to both internal exams conducted by the college and university-level exams. The mechanism typically involves several steps to ensure that grievances are handled fairly and transparently. Students are encouraged to follow the outlined steps to resolve their grievances in a structured manner.
