Choithram College of Nursing proudly hosted an enlightening session on 28 May 2023, focusing on the pivotal theme of "Professional Ethics and Integrity." This gathering, meticulously guided by Prof. Shreeja Vijayan, Principal of Choithram College of Nursing, aimed to enrich the non-teaching staff with invaluable insights.

Steering this insightful event was the esteemed Dr. Prof. Sheetal Saxena, Vice Principal and Head of the Department for Community of Health Nursing. Through her expertise and leadership, attendees delved into the essence of ethical conduct and the significance of integrity in their professional endeavors. This event was coordinated by Ms. Vaishali Tiwari, Associate Professor & Head, Mental Health Nursing.

About the Session

The session commenced with an exploration of the concept of professional ethics, elucidating its importance in maintaining trust, credibility, and professionalism in the workplace. Dr. Saxena highlighted the indispensable role of integrity in fostering a conducive work environment, where honesty, transparency, and accountability prevail.

Report: "Expert Session on "Workplace Ethics"

Date	26/6/23
Time	1:30-2:30PM
Venue	Meeting Room, College of Nursing
Beneficiaries	25 Supporting Staff

In any educational institution, the backbone of operations extends beyond the faculty and administration to encompass Supporting Staff. These individuals, often working behind the scenes, play a pivotal role in ensuring the smooth functioning of the institute. However, their significance extends beyond mere logistical support; they contribute significantly to the ethical fabric of the institution. Workplace ethics, therefore, are not solely the responsibility of administrators and educators but are equally pertinent to Supporting Staff.
